Firecrest Services Ltd Gets Gold Medal

Wallingford based Firecrest Services Ltd, involved in the design, installation, commissioning and maintenance of Fire Detection and Alarm Systems, recently received further recognition of their commitment to working to the highest standards when they achieved their Fire Gold approval from the National Security Inspectorate. A gold medal was officially presented to them by the National Security Inspectorate's (NSI) Chief Executive, Andrew White, at NSI headquarters in Maidenhead on 27 August.

The unique, numbered and framed Gold medal, produced exclusively for NSI by the Royal Mint, is awarded to companies who have achieved NSI Fire Gold approval, the premier scheme for companies involved in the design, installation, commissioning and maintenance of fire protection systems in the UK. By meeting Fire Gold requirements, Firecrest Services Ltd can provide assurance to their customers that they deliver the highest standard of service.

Firecrest Services Ltd has been involved in fire detection systems since 2003. Eddie Forsyth,

Managing Director of Firecrest Services Ltd stated, "We are committed to providing both new and existing customers with the best service possible and in recognition of this, we are proud to have received the Fire Gold medal."

An independent, not-for-profit organisation, NSI is the UK's leading inspectorate for the security and fire industries, championing the highest standards for over 30 years. NSI Fire approved companies must comply with appropriate British Standards and requirements of the BAFE Modular Fire Protection Scheme SP203. Companies are inspected regularly for their continuous delivery of the highest standards to their customers. NSI also operates a Customer Care support process, underpinning the reliability and integrity of companies it inspects.
